Hughes Gives Policy and Accepts Japan's Declaration of Intention to Withdraw Troops.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.-The attitude of the American ment toward Japanese occupation of Eastern Siberia was presented at the opening of today's meeting of the Far Eastern committee and was followed by adoption of the Siberian resolution, by submission by the Chinese of a summary of the Russo-Chinese Alliance of 1896, and a discussion of several collateral Chinese questions.

The American statement on Siberia was read by Secretary Hughes. At the outset he referred to the Japanese declaration of intention presented yesterday, and continued:

These assurances are taken to mean Japan does not seek, through her military operations in Siberia, to impair the rights of the Russian people in any respect, or to obtain any unfair commercial advantages, or to absorb for her use the Siberian fisheries, or to explain any unfair commercial advantages, or to absorb for her use the Siberian fisheries, or to ever the political or territorial intentions of the presence of Sakhalin or of the magnitume province.

MOVEMENTS UNDER WAY.

A movement to have the conference indorse extension of the War Finance Corporation by Congress for another year also is already under way. Reclamation, drainage, co-operative organization of farmers and taxation are among other matters under discussion.

Samuel Gompers offered a resolution in the committee of agriculture and price regulations to declare that men engaged in the agriculture field were "entitled to a large reward for the services they give society."

Thomas Nelson Page, former ambassador to Italy, told the committee that farmers should not look to the government for aid, adding that all wars were followed by severe agricultural depression. Extension of credit facilities to foreign countries to enable them to purchase surplus corn and oats was recommended by Gov.

COMMODITY FINANCING.

Probably one question in which the delegates are as a whole interested. Is that of commodity financing. One member of the committee on agricultural credit and insurance, which has this sub-just under consideration, suggested that a plan probably could be worked out to previde for commodity loans running from six menths to three years.

His proposition would provide for the parametric of commodity paper presented by farmers by their local back and the handling of this spaper through the Federal Farm Loan Bank system, which would either discount it through the Federal Reserve system or issue debentures against the loans in the form of certificates of indebtedness to be sold on the open market.

nust pay-luxury rates. CITIZENS TAXED.

THIZENS TAXED.

The clubs, on the other hand, maintain that they chiefly raise good grass, and that they are emphatically and forcefully productive since their courses are the main lure which tempts the rich tourists here year after year and thus provide the clientele for the hotels and stores and restaurants whose business depends so largely on the prosperous visitor. They point to the fact that Los Angeles has but one municipal golf course and that merely so-so, while other resorts like those in Florida and Texas tax their citizens for the upkeep of the club courses which prove such an essential draw and contributes so much ebullient content to the tourists. The Los Angeles clubs make it possible for any golfer in good standing from anywhere to enjoy their links, they make special provision for temporary visiting memberships, and their courses have become known as ranking with the best in the country and amongst the most hospitable. Hotels here have long since discovered that without golf courses their attractions are fatally diminished, and the clubs insist that they have been vitally responsible for the fascination that Southern Californis in general and Los Angeles in particular, hold for the tourists from every-where.

mis litter disappointment hasses driver as he was a had his car was admitted of the fastest ever seen in the fastest in the fast that the fast excellence the solo performance by the first violins of Walter's priss song from "Die Meistersinger," which was accompanied by the orchestra with unusual sympathy and restraint, must take first place.

In the "Tannhauser" overture, as in the "Ride of the Valkyries," the trombone section was called, upon to deliver a greater volume of tone-than was physically possible; and it was also noticeable that the tuba player was placed too far back in the wings to give his instrument its proper value in the tonal pattern. But these were slight defects, easily corrected in future, and not sufficient to mar a theroughly enjoyable program.

The prelude to the third act of "Lohengrin" and the overture to "Riemsi," the latter of which opened the program, were played warmly and with great emotional sincerity. The whole occasion was perhaps the best example the seamon has given us of the quality of Grauman's orchestra, and the ability of Mischa Guterson as conductor.

LLOYD COMES HOME.

DIAN BRINGS NEW CONTRACT.

By Grace Kingsley.

If you want to get a guy good and spoiled with attention you'll have to try it on somebody bestdee Harold Lloyd. Because wild worship just rolls off him like water off a swan's neck. He's been tried and not found wanting.

Back from New Tork, wearing the smile he uses always in everyday life but never in comedies, also wearing his favorite sort of derby hat which he can purchase nowhere axcept in the metrobolis.

Mrs. Dill Auctions Home.

An echo of the domestic troubles of Max Dill and his wife, Edyth, which terminated in divorce, is found in the fact that Mrs. Dill yesterday auctioned of her beautiful home at 1400 Maltman avenue. The place was luxuriously furnished and was considered a show place. It brought a very large sum.

RADIOS.

When he returns to the stage here is every likelihood that Guy Bates Post, who is now making film version of "The Masquerader" here, will realize an ambition which he has cherished for a period of years, and that is to play "Hamlet." Only his success in "Omar the Tentmaker," and the stage piece that he is now starring in for the screen, have interfered with the fulfillment of his planere this, His intention is to follow this with other Shakespeaream productions, it is understood, as he has always had a strong impulse toward the classic drams.

For the present, Mr. Post's plans are unsettled. It is possible that he will make one or two pictures following. The Masquerader," as he is much taken with the art of the screen. His present starring feature is well under way, and his photographic possibilities have been well demonstrated.

"The Masquerader" picture is being produced by Richard Walton Tully, under the direction of James Young.

Hints Farrar May Sing "Thais" and "Zaza."

Chicago Opera Head Remarks Are Different.

YORK, Jan. 24.—Miss Mary Garden will sign within ten days a contract to direct a Chicago opera company next season, she said today. Her contract is ready for her signature, she said, despite presistent rumors to the effect that Lucien Muratore's resignation and the temperamental rebellion of Giorgie Polacco, conductor, might lead to a change in direction next season.

BUSINESS OF KNOWING.

Not so very many years ago the hard school of experience was thought to be the only class-room wherein it was possible to learn the game of business. Now the student who is graduated from a college of business administration is well grounded at least in the theory of business, and is saved much of the former long hard journey.

There is no doubt that experience is the only teacher sufficiently versed in the technique of the subject to round up and polish off the captain of finance of tomorrow, but it is also certain that business men and bankers look with much favor and lend their hearty support and indorsement to well organized university divisions specializing upon such subjects.

A sample of the high-class instruction, modern-day students are given is found in the announcement of the opening on February, 3, of a course in commercial banking conducted by Henry S. McKee, vice-president of the Merchants' National Bank, vice-president of the California Bankers' Association, and author of books on economic subjects, at the college of commerce and business administration of the University of Southern California. Last year this class attracted the attendance of a number of high bank officials. The course deals with the practical problems connected with the operation of a commercial bank. Gordon Whitnall, secretary of the City Planning Commission, will repeat his course of last year on city planning in relation to business conditions and outlook. An interesting development of the College of Commerce has been the work of its evening division established at No. 631. South Spring street in the heart of the financial Tatiot. This was made possible through the active co-operation of aggressive business correction of aggressive business correction. BUSINESS OF KNOWING.

SALIENT INVESTMENT FEATURES

- These bonds will be a first closed mortgage or deed of trust on well located real estate properties in Los Angeles conservatively appraised at $679,398.20, together with improvements valued at $431,520.00, making a total security of $1,110,918.20.
- Alameda Streets, being the main plant, exceeding twelve acres in area; and the other, the warehouse properties, on North Main and Wilhardt Streets. Due to their location, their value should enhance with the further growth of the community.
- 3. The earnings have been satisfactory and the growth of the business stable since its incepts in 1901. Net earnings for 1921 were $83,139.87 or 2.5 times maximum interest requirements. Arrange net earnings applicable to interest and Federal Taxes for the four-year period ending 1921 was $122,679.
- A sinking fund of $30,000 per annum to purchase bonds in the open market or call by be will practically liquidate the debt by maturity.
- 5. Approximately 94% of the stock of the company is held by the R. H. Raphael Resity Co. which company owns well located real estate and securities. The net worth of the latter company of its interest in the Southern California Hardwood & Manufacturing Co. is well in example of $1,000,000. The R. H. Raphael Realty Co. has agreed to waive the Statute of Limitations on its stock holdings in the issuing company, which constitutes a practical guarantee during the life of the bonds.

All legal proceedings in connection with this issuance of bonds are under the direction of Mr. Arthur Wright for the Company, and Messrs. Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher for the Underwriters.

The Road of Steel

AMERICAN railroad systems are acknowledged to be the best in the world. American vision, initiative and promotive ability are given just credit for the thousands of miles of steel that carry the commerce of this country.

But often we overlook the fact that without the investor, these systems could not exist. Thousands of people today and in past generations have expressed their confidence in the future development of our railroads by buying railroad bonds. In doing this they have made a satisfactory investment—when the bonds were properly safeguarded and passed upon by a responsible banking house—and at the same time have contributed to the development of the country.

The essential character of this industry, the recognition by the government of the necessity of granting rates that will enable the railroads to make an adequate return on the capital invested, and finally, the present opportunity of securing a high rate of interest over a long period of years, are all factors contributing to the popularity among shrewd investors of properly safeguarded railroad bonds.

Bonds for Safe Investment—In common with all business institutions, the Harris Trust & Savings Bank is harmed directly or indirectly by unwise speculation and "wildcat" promotions. In a series of advertisements, of which this is the Fifth, we are trying to picture to the public, out of an experience of 39 years, what we have found to be 14/4 investments.

USED FALSE FACES.

USED FALSE FACES.

James's duty was to furnish false faces, Hindu masks and other disguises to the actual smugglers, he declared.

James stoutly denies any connection with Fuku's murder in Brawley, although admitting his presence there at the time of the crime.

ley, although admitting his presence there at the time of the crime.

Dept. Dist.-Atty. Bitter, who investigated the murder, declared tonight that the State has circumstantial evidence to bring James to trial in Superior Court. He will be arraigned for preliminary hearing in Brawley within a few days. James, when arrested, was armed with a .45 caliber revolver with one empty chamber. Fuku was slain with a .45 caliber builet. James' suit case when searched is said to have contained masks and disguises.

Simmons kept Henry on the ground for ten minutes. Then the two detectives returned with Hall, whom they had captured after chasing him for more than a block. A short time later a detail of Santa Monica, police arrived on the scene and took the two prisoners to the jail at the beach giv, where they were identified by the bank employees, Mr. Simmons and Mr. Butler.

Henry was told he had grased Mr. Butler's hand with a bullet.

"He's damned lucky! Henry replied, "but I guess I'll have to apologize to him next time I see him."

Declare Pacific Electric Rate Scale Injurious.

Assure Commission People Will Move to City.

Decreased Traffic Threat is Made at Hearing.

The State Railroad Commission which a month ago handed down a decision allowing an increase in fares over the lines of the Pacific Electric Railway, yesterday heard rehearsed at length the protests of commuters of the Long Beach and adjacent suburban districts over the revocation of the farmer "beach blanket fare" and transfer

The commission sat en banc on a rehearing of the rate increase case. The session was held in the suditorium of Normal Hill Center and was attended by several hundred interested listeners, who followed with close attention the verbal titls between witnesses from the affected beach localities and Chief Counsel Karr of the traction company. The point of view of the commuters was possibly most succinctly

The point of view of the commuters was possibly most succinctly stated when E. L. Duffy, residing at Maywood, affirmed that in his opinion the basis upon which the rate increase which works hardship upon all suburban patrons of this city and the coast is made, is this city and the coast is made, is wrong. Mr. Duffy took issue upon three points: (1) That the company's right-of-way valuation is excessive; (2) that the right-of-way valuation should not be included in operative expenses; (3) that the fillesge basis is unsound and wrong.

FEARS FOLKS WILL MOVE.

Beach, stated that the smaller communities of the beach district, such as his own, will lose a great percentage of their population, and the large towns, as well, will be sharply affected by the continuation of the authorized higher fare and the abolition of the transfer privilegea heretofore enjoyed. "You will not haul many people in future." Mr. Transue informed officials of the railway company during his testimony.

Robert H. Santley sof Long Beach, the first witness of the day, asserted the readiness of the Union Pacific to put on trains between Los Angeles and Long Beach, with a round-trip rate considerably lower than the present one over the lines of the Pacific Electric. It costs a Long Beach commuter about $69 a year more to ride at present than before the fare increase. Mr. Cantley stated, and the amount is greater than most beach dwellers doing business in town can afford.

BEACH PATRONS PROTEST RISE.

Declare Pacific Electric Rate Scale Injurious.

Assure Commission People Will Move to City.

Decreased Traffic Threat is Made at Hearing.

The State Railroad Commission which a month ago handed down decision allowing an increase in fares over the lines of the Pacific Electric Railway, yesterday heard rehearsed at length the protests of commuters of the Long Beach and adjacent suburban districts over the revocation of the former "beach blanket fare" and transfer

AT TORRANCE.

The way in which residents of Los Angeles and way points, who are employed in one or another of the four industrial concerns at Torrance are affected by the discontinuance of the forty-day ticket book formerly issued by the traction company was explained in detail by W. T. Pratt of the Torrance Iron Works, and Frank Hewson of the Union Tool Company of Torrance. Close to 1800 men are in the employ of the four companies, Mr. Hewson said, and most of these work five days of every week and two Saturdays of the month—an average of five and one-half days per week. Eighty per cent of these men live outside of Torrance and all who depend for transportation upon the electric line forfeit eix full fares each month under the present ticket-book system. To these, the speaker affirmed, the "nondiscriminatory" phrase, used in connection with the recent fare, increase, seems farcical.

REASONING STATED.

President Brundige of the commission, at the opening of the day's session, read a statement device of the server of the building. The exterior of the building to the first three stories, will be finished with terra cotta on both the Spring and the Seventh-street elevations, while the remainder will be finished with terra cotta on both the Spring and the Seventh-street increase, seems farcical.

The commission sat en banc on a rehearing of the rate increase case. The session was held in the suditorium of Normal Hill Center and was attended by several hundred interested listeners, who followed with close attention the verbail tits between witnesses from the suffected beach localities and Chief Counsel Karr of the traction company. The point of view of the commuters was possibly most succincity stated when E. L. Duffy, residing at Maywood, affirmed that in nis opinion the basis upon which the rate increase which works hardship upon all suburban patrons of this city and the coast is made, is wrong. Mr. Duffy took issue unon three points: (1) That the company's right-of-way valuation should not be included in operative expenses; (3) that the mileage basis is unsound and wrong.

FEARS FOLKS WILL MOVE.

W. T. Transue, living at Seal Beach, stated that the smaller communities of the beach district, such as his own, will lose a great percentage of their population, and the sharpty affected by the continuation of the authorized higher fare and the abolition of the transfer privileges heretofore enjoyed. "You will not haul many people in future." Mr. Transue informed officials of the railway company duning his testimony.

Robert H. Santley sof Long Beach, the first witness of the day, aswerted the readiness of the Union Pacific to put on trains between Los Angeles and Long Beach, with a round-trip rate considerably lower, than the present one over the lines of the Pacific Electric. It costs a Long Beach commuter about $83 a year more to ride at present than before the fare increase, Mr. Cantley stated, and the amount is greater than most beach dwellers doing business in town can afford.

REASONING STATED.

President Brundige of the commission, at the opening of the day's session, read a statement defining the authority and setting forth the reasoning by which the body had arrived at its findings allowing the increasing of rates by the traction company. THE ANNUAL BANQUET OF THE MERCHANTS AND MANUFACTURES ASSOCIATION AT THE AMBASSADOR BY PREDERIC J. HASKIN. NEW YORK CITY, Jan. 11. That man will soon become a fring animal, able to soar in the air like an eagle without the aid of a motor, is the likest dramatic forecast of aeronautical experts. Successful short flights in motorless planes have recently been made by German avistors, while both European and American inventors.

cessful short flights in motorless planes have recently been made by German aviators, while both European and American inventors are known to be at work on models of intricately-shaped wings more nearly resembling those of the large, soaring birds.

This was the dream of men conturies before the age of motors, and most of the early experiments in flying were but clumsy attempts to imitate the wing motion of birds. Leonardo da Vinci, for example, was convinced that if he could only produce a man-size pair of wings exactly like the eagle's, he would be able to fly just as expertly as that bird. He had drawn many an eagle and he knew the peculiar shape of their wings, so eventually he produced a huge and accurately shaped pair. But something seemed to be lacking. The young inventor tried them out again and again, using his arms and legs to metivate them, yet he did not rise grandly into the air, as he had expected, and once he came down very abruptly indeed from the top of a low hill.

In a very short time he tired of these awkward experiments, and turned to the (ashioning of a "helicopter"—a great aerial screw, ninety-six feet long, and then he built another flying machine that was a framed sall. After that, he died. Now, modern aeronautical experts tell us that if Da Vinci had only gone on studying the wings and the flight of the eagle, instead of wasting so much time on his helicopter, he might have discovered the secret that modern scientists are beginning to know.

THE EXAMPILE OF BIRDS.

THE EXAMPLE OF BIRDS.
"Man is essentially a land animal." says one aviation authorky.
"and it is quite possible that if Nature had not placed before him numerous examples of birds and insects that are able to fly, he would never have thought of attempting it himself. But birds are very much in evidence, and mankind has from the earliest times felt inspired to imitate them.

tempting it himself. But birds are very much in evidence, and mankind has from the earliest times felt inspired to imitate them.

"Nature has made a flying machine in the bird, which is nearly a thousand times as heavy as the air its bulk displaces.

"If you will observe the flight of hawks or eagles, you will see that they seem to glide through the air with hardly any movement of their wings. Sometimes, however, they stop and hold themselves in a stationary position directly over a certain spot, carefully watching something in the earth immediately below. In such cases they often work their wings with great rapidity, evidently expending an enormous amount of energy. When they case to hover and commence to move again through the air, they appear to keep themselves at the same height with an almost imperceptible expenditure of power."

In the nineteenth ceatury the secret of this eccentric mode of flight was discovered. It was, men realized, the wind. Prof.

Langley was aware of the soaring theory as far back as 1831, as is proved by his famous memoly, entitled. "The internal Work of the Wind," while in 1897 Mr. Chantus shed even further light on the warfations of the wind were the grantest difficulties to be soccassive as the same from the part of the warfations of the wind were the grantest difficulties to be so encountered in flying—a fact which is an arrest of the strategy of the wind were the grantest difficulties to be so encountered in the same from the part of the wind were the grantest difficulties to be so encountered to the same than a section to the same from the part of the wind were the grantest difficulties to be so encountered to the same than a section to the same from the part of the wind were the grantest difficulties to be so encountered to the same than a section to the control of the wind were the grantest difficulties to be so encountered. SUCCESSFUL SOARING FLIGHT.

An illustration of this theory in practice is the recent flight of flerr Klemperer in Garmany, which is explained in an article by Mr. Augustus Post.

"Klemperer left from Wasser-kuppe, a hill 2000 feet high, and landed near the town of Gersfelt, six miles away, which is 1806 feet high. The duration of the flight was more than thirteen minutes. The beginning of the flight was made into the wind, which was from west-northwest. The hills so busy that the running nearly due north and time to bids any made into the wind, which was from west-northwest. The hills running nearly due north and south. Klemperer tursed nouth, following the ridge of the hills. If he had tried to cross he would have been caught in the downward air current which naturally followed the downward slope of the ground. He did run into such a situation near a spur called Pferdshopf, where a gorge ran through facing the wind. In order to get back to the previous up-current he retraced his tracks, soaring upward until he was high enough to cross the gorge safely. JURY RECANTS ON CHARGES.

Says It's Sorry It Twice In dicted B. W. Marks.

ment Sets Out He Had No Part in "Plot."

A situation without a parellel in the history of local jurisprudence developed yestarday whon members of the 1921 county grand Jury. In a formal statement issued over their signatures, exomerated B. W. Marka, local real estate dealer and promoter, from charges contained in two indictments returned against him by the jury several weeks ago. The statement was signed by eleven of the thirteen grand jurors present at the meeting when the indictments were voted.

Mr. Marks was charged with criminal compiraty to obtain money under false pretanes in connection with two real estate trades. The grand jurors statement follows:

"The understrated mambers of the 1921 Los Angeles County Grand Jury hereby state that they did not know that B. W. Marks had evidence ready that would have proven beyond a doubt to the grand jury that he was not a party to the trades made with Mrs. Julia P. Smith and Katherine Callahan; that he knew nothing of these trades when made, and that he sever had any interest of any kind whatever in them; and that he never had any interest of any kind whatever in them; and that he never had any interest of any kind whatever in them; and that he never had any interest of any kind whatever in them; and that he never had any interest of any kind whatever in them; and that he never had any interest of any kind whatever in them; and that he never had any interest of any kind whatever in them; and that he never had any interest of any kind whatever in them; and that he never had any interest of any kind whatever in them; and that he never had any interest of any kind whatever in them; and that he never had any interest of any kind whatever in them; and that he never had any interest of any kind whatever in them; and that he never had any interest of any kind whatever in them; and that he never had any interest of any kind whatever in them; and that he never had any interest of any kind whatever in them; and that he in the never had he had he never he had he never he had he never he had he never he had he eviden the Superior Court. The pleading itself was defective, and subsequent investigation showed that there was no merit in the accusation. "I am informed that he has recently been charged with obtaining measy under false pretenses in connection with a trade. Signed statements by those interested in the trade have been exhibited to me in which the parties state that they sever met Mr. Marks, and that he had nothing to de with the deal, and received nothing out of it in any way. I am very much gratified to know that a large number of the members of the last grand jury have been fair enough to subscribe to a document stating that the present charge against Mr. Marks is the result of a mistake, and that had they known what they know now, they would never have toted for it.

"I regard Mr. Marks as a man of unusual enterprise and vision. One of the kind who has made southern California what it is and whom we should encourage to go GOLD TOOTH" JOHNSON CHANGES PLEA FROM NOT GUILTY TO GUILTY.

Why Readjustment of Fares is Necessary

1. The Need for Increased Earnings.

In no year in the last ten have the earnings been such as to give a fair interest return on the money actually invested in the railway. If it were your money invested you would feel this to be wrong. Why not have the same view for the money of 50,000 other people invested to give you service? The Railroad Commission after careful investigation find the earnings have given a rate of return since 1913 ranging from 1.5% to 4.2% annually on the value of the railroad property. These returns are certainly too low.

Further, we know you will agree that stockholders should not be expected to put in more money with such a showing. Yet since June 30, 1914, they have invested in improvements and additions, through money taken from their own pockets direct, about $5,600,000. There is public need that millions more be spent. Should there not be assurance in advance of a reasonable chance for earning an interest on these millions?

The New Rates Were Made Only After Three Years of Hearings and Investigations. Every Community Had Fair Opportunity to Present Its Views.

Aside from prior work, the Commission began a complete survey of the rates, service and valuation of the Pacific Electric in June, 1920—(the valuation work had been under way for some time then.) All communities were invited to join in this survey, each so far as its interest ran. More than fifty did so, the work of the city of Los Angeles being especially comprehensive.

The valuation was completed. The figures adopted by the Commission for rate-making are less than we think to be the true value and less than the debts of the Company. They are cer-

The Pacific Electric is Economically Managed and in Late Years Not Enough Money Has Been Spent in Keeping up Track and Equipment.

Track and Equipment.

The mis-statements that excessive salaries are paid are not borne out by the facts. The Commission has already issued a statement to that effect. The survey has shown no unusual or extraordinary expenses. It is true that car maintenance has been expensive, but this has resulted from efforts to keep up to the service standard old cars of many types—the company has not been financially able to retire all equipment that it might under more favorable circumstances, and replace it with new. Since 1914, it has acquired equipment, under trust notes, costing more than $2,077,000 and is now buying $750,000 more. It proposes to spend $1.850,000 on a subway for Hollywood, Glendale, San Fernando Valley and other service.

4. The Hollywood Fares of Five Cents and Six Cents Have Been Always Less Than the Cost of Service.

The fare between Los Angeles business center and Hollywood was for many years 10c. The 5-cent fare was established, not voluntarily, but under legal duress. Since then the Pacific Electric has been furnishing this transportation at less than cost, receiving no return on the investment, and often earning not even operating expenses. The larger part of this travel has been carried at a rate of less than a cent a mile. No service can be maintained under these conditions, except somebody shoulder a loss as now. a loss as now.

Los Angeles Street-Car Fares Are Lower Than in Other Cities.

At the present time in the United States, of 555 important cities, 129 have a 10c fare; 7 a 9c fare; 89 an 8c fare; 191 a 7c fare; 118 a 6c fare, and only 21 a 5c fare. California cities and towns have far below the average.

The nickel in 1916 was not giving an interest return in most cities on the money invested in street railway service, because of the extensions through growth of cities—the short hauls no longer offsetting the long hauls. Why should a five or a six-cent fare be thought adequate now?

6. Examine Cost of Operations:

Street-car motormen and conductors (Pacific Electric) received in 1916 from 27c to 32c an hour; now, 46c to 53c an hour. Cost of electric current, per unit, increased 46%. Ties used for renewals have increased 123%. Rails have increased 57%. Taxes have increased 56%. The need for higher fares is obvious.

7. Interurban Fares Are on a Reasonable Basis:

Consider the decreased purchasing power of a penny since 1916, and the reasonableness of these rates must be recognized. We ask you to consider this situation from the viewpoint of justice to investors; and to consider also the public's vital need for service which can be maintained adequately only as money can be attracted to investment in this service with reasonable prospect for safety and a fair return.

NICE LABEL, BUT IT'S WATER CHURCH SITE

This is the question that has been bothering Capt. K. J. Jonssen, skipper of the big freighter Steel Scientist, ever since he opened an inviting looking wooden case in his cabin while at sea the other day. The case, plastered with French labels was given to Capt. Frenk Haskell, akipper of the saling ship Golden Cate, while both vessels were tarout at see, as a token of Capt. Haskell's gratitude for a kindly set. But the case turned out to contain twelve bottles of a French table water, and now Capt. Jonssen
